You do know that FB is the most mainstream social network, don't you? And there's a perfectly logical explanation for that: there are limitless opportunities for entertainment, education, business development and gaining new audiences, and simply making new friends from all over the world. One can imagine how much content (Facebook videos, images, live streams, etc.) there is here to be inspired, be motivated, enjoy, or learn! It would all be perfect if Facebook videos could be saved offline so you wouldn't lose them and explore the content in your spare time without going to the platform again. To download photos from Facebook is much more straightforward, but saving Facebook videos is more problematic. The platform itself doesn't have any Facebook video download tools, but I know a way out. How do I download a video from Facebook? Use the Facebook video downloader that is handy to use. Get Facebook video URL is a tool to help you obtain the video links from Facebook. With Get Facebook Video URL, you will have access to the Facebook video links including the SD and HD source URLs which you can use to add to GoStream for livestreaming. The URLs make sure that GoStream can obtain information about the videos but it restricted information.
